

Aerial Applicators See Success with Monty's.

Monty's Plant Food Company offers aerial applicators products that can be applied not just during the growing season but before and after as well. All Monty's products have low application rates and are non-corrosive. Monty's products also have tank-mix flexibility and can be combined with herbicides, insecticides, or fungicides. Contact your Monty's representative today for more information.

Monty's offers growers natural soil enhancement and plant fertility products using innovative proprietary technologies.

“ I have been a dealer for six years and have been seeing excellent results. The product mixes easily and goes into solution with other products with no problems. I have had excellent results with the entire Agrihance® program. I would encourage anyone to try Monty's. They really do a good job. The company stands behind the product. ”
